Muskie Enters Fray; Jibes At GOP Nominee

By The Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has assailed Republican presidential rival Richard M. Nixon by name while Nixon's running mate was all but apologizing for a verbal attack

"I am not concerned about the 'new Nixon' or the 'old Nixon.' What worries me is the real Nixon," Humphrey told a rally at Sea Girt, N.J., Thursday

Humphrey labeled Nixon as "that man who abused Mr. Truman, who heaped scorn on Adlai Stevenson, who fought John Kennedy every step of the way," and who has opposed efforts of President Johnson.

In Rochester, N.Y., the GOP vice presidential nominee, Spiro T. Agnew, said he erred de scribing Humphrey as "squishy soft on communism." said if he had realized the effect the statement would have, "I would have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it.'

Nixon called for new leaderhip to restore respect for the United States around the world and urged a halt in trade with allies of North Vietnam as he campaigned Thursday in Indianapolis, Ind., and New Orleans, La. "It is time we made clear that the flag of the United States is nobody's doormat," Nixon said. Humphrey's running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie. D-Maine, also stepped up his attack on Nixon and charged, "Unfortunately in this campaign, as in all the last 20 years, he has shown adeptness lectively assigned a "target" more at running against, than running for, a program for this country.'

> Third party candidate, George Wallace was heckled in Milwaukee, Wis., by pickets who shout-"Bigot, bigot, bigot," Eared. lier Wallace said, "The worst bigots in the country are those who call other people bigots."

About 500 civil rights supporters walked out of the jammed 6,100-seat auditorium where Wallace spoke in Milwaukee. Wallace declared. "The anarchists in this country had better have their day now, because after Nov. 5, they're through."

Meanwhile, Nixon expressed confidence that Wallace support would shrink as the Nov. 5 election approaches. He said he didn't intend to aim "a slambang attack" at Wallace because it wouldn't accomplish anything except "build him up and give him a bigger vote and a bigger visibility than he otherwise would have."

Nixon said, "This is a contest between two men and between the two major parties."

Humphrey told Democrats if they sit out the election, their party will be splintered.

Complaints to Bureaus came from some outraged women who complained that they never recashed by the company. Many who did receive the wig stated they were horrified at its ap-

Freedom's Graveyard

The great contest of wills between the people of Czechoslovakia and the rulers of Russia has ended its first phase.

While it lasted, it was a thing that excited the human spirit around the world and renewed our deep admiration for the Czechs. This last thing does not diminish because they have now been crushed under Russia's hell.

They still are a great, freedom seeking people worthy of our respect and support. They tried mightily to make another contribution to the history of human freedom and they did it. That it was a contribution of temporary failure is regrettable, but the history of freedom is a cumulative record of final victory after a million reverses in the march of people toward the light. This was one of the reverses.

To go back a bit, the government of Czechoslovakia, seated at Prague, is communist and subservient to Moscow. Under the new communist party leader Alexander Dubcek, the Czech communists started reforming their government. throwing out some of the party hacks prescribed by Moscow, easing censorship and repression and increasing the trade with Free World West Germany in order to revitalize a progressive country born out of the reshuffling of Middle European states after World War I. It was a country which had ground down to a snailspace of movement in spirit, culture and economy under communist hard line rule by party functionaries from Moscow.

Middle Europe — and indeed the world was electrified by what was going on in Prague. Moscow was worried. Allegiance wasn't being challenged, but the quality of its collaboration was being rejected. Russia called the reformers to Russia to be reprimanded. They wouldn't go. It went to them, at the border, at Cierna. There seemed to be an accomodation. The Czechs were wild with their success and the world was disbelieving. Was the Russian monolith — absolute subservience or death — cracking?

The Russians and Czechs went home from this and other conferences on the crisis. The Czech communist reform government had survived. The communists of Yugoslavia and Rumania of the belt of communist satellites around West Russia backed it. So did the Free World communist parties of France and Italy. The commies of East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria condemned it and sided with Russia.

Then the Russian tanks rolled into Prague and took over. Russia's subservient satellites sent token forces. There were skirmishes and 70 Czechs died. The Czechs are brave. They painted sneering slogans on the Russian tanks. They changed road sign directions to confuse them. They set up a secret radio network. They resisted with non-cooperation.

But the Russians ha dthe muscle. Dubcek came back from Moscow (where he had been trained earlier as a communist leader) and counseled his countrymen to cooperate with their own government. Dubcek & Co. had been given no choice by the Russians; villified, threatened, even robbed (Dubcek had his wristwatch stolen during interrogation) the Czech leaders had been threatened with dismemberment and extermination of their country by the Russians.

The only decisions open to Dubcek were to kill himself or the freedoms which he had sought for his countrymen. His own death wouldn't have helped reform survive; he choose surrender to bloodshed that could not have prevailed anyway.

Freedom expired in Czechoslovakia. The survival of the Czech leaders, drastically purged of their progressive elements except for Dubcek who is retained as a face-saving symbol by the Russians, denotes no Russian concessions except to propaganda and pretense.

The effects of the Russian invasion are great and still not definable because still emergent. The relations of the United States with Russia are affected. NATO was immediately bolstered. Our Cold War thaw is being re-examined; the realignment of power in Middle Europe reassessed; our Presidential campaign reminded that Russia is unreliable.

Russian triumphed militarily, of course, but the fact that she thought she had to do this to maintain herself — particularly at home — was an eye-opener to world observors. She got home front protests. Not many, perhaps, because Russia is the complete police state, but to have any is significant of the explosive forces within the Soviet that the Kremlin leaders fear might erupt if the Czechs or Rumanians or other satellite peoples should take it into their heads that they could adjust the social justice of their communism themselves. Moscow is running strong, but scared.

Demonstrators Not Innocent Children

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

CHICAGO (NEA) - A A good many political figures and normally responsible journalists are themselves overacting as they seek to underscore the photographically documented excesses of some Chicago policemen during the recent Democratic convention.

The portrait being drawn by some is of hordes of sadistic policemen administering unprovoked beatings to hundreds of "innocent American children" who had gathered in Chicago's Grant Park simply to sing protest songs and demonstrate peacefully against the war in Vietnam

The first point to be made against this distorted picture is that considerable members of the Grant Park demonstrators were not, by any fair definition, children.

Of the 309 persons arrested during the final two days of the convention (nearly 600 were arrested altogether), at least 78 were 25 years of age or older. Thirty-one were 30 or more. That means onefourth of the arrested were over 25 and one-tenth over 30.

The proportions in these age brackets may have been higher, since some of the arrested persons refused to give police

The matter of the demonstrators' innocence is also a very mixed story. Beyond question, many hundreds had no aggressive purpose other than to display their vigorous opposition to the war. But there were uncounted numbers of demonstrators whose purposes were not innocent. As well-advertised by their militant leaders for nearly a year, they came to Chicago to play a cheap revolutionary game called "confrontation."

* * * At the most they hoped to disrupt the convention itself. At the least they sought to blacken it by provoking the authorities to violence and creating an aura of disorder. The argument that they would not have stirred trouble had they been granted the permit they sought to march "peacefully" on Chicago's streets (to the convention hall, of course) does not stand up.

On Oct. 21, 1967, antiwar demonstrators led by some of the same militants who came to Chicago were given permission to assemble in an area near the Pentagon across the Potomac from Washington. They did not abide by their arrangement but instead forced an ugly confrontation with the soldiers guarding the building.

Board To Evaluate Testing Programs

LANSING (AP) - The State Board of Education has directed its staff to evaluate testing programs used by individual school districts in kindergarten through 6th grade.

Board member Dr. Leroy Augenstein, sponsor of the proposal, said many school dropouts are youngsters "who did not receive adequate grounding in their basic educational skills such as reading, writing and mathematics.

'The competence in these basic skills can be evaluated by appropriate testing." Augen-

That example was high in the minds of security planners for the Chicago convention.

Also last fall, demonstrators won a permit to gather in a parking lot across from a Los Angeles hotel where President Johnson was speaking. Once again, they broke their agreement and tried to force their way to the hotel.

* * * In respulsing this move, incidentally, the Los Angeles police used force of a severity little distinguished from that seen in Chicago. This summer. protesters gathered at the same hotel to shout at Vice President Humphrey stopped short of "confrontation."

Their counterparts at Chicago felt no such reserve. They bombarded the police with rocks, bottles, bricks, homemade spears, parts of telephones ripped from public booths, lye-and-water, human excrement, acid, a dangerous oven-cleaning chemical. And their endless barrage of insult and obscenity hurled against the police was not mere selfexpression but calculated provocation. They injured 120 policemen, a rather high score for "innocent American chil-

Whatever the overreaction of some of its policemen, and the case for that is strong enough, Chicago was the accidental object of blame. The "confrontation" would have happened in any city chosen this year.

one of the modern gadgets called "the unusual no-trump." It has nothing to do with notrump but shows a minor twosuit hand.

Both Montreal and Minneapolis used this convention in their match and it worked very well for Minneapolis on the hand in the box. South wound up playing four hearts only.

The bidding shows how Ron De'Harpporte and Newt Dockman of Minneapolis countered this unusual no-trump. Ron's bid of three diamonds said, "Partner, I am making a cue bid to show a good hand with heart support." The fact that he did hold the ace of diamonds was incidental.

Ron's later bid of five diamonds showed this ace and Newt's six-club call was a belated grand slam invitation. Ron did not accept because he knew that at one stage of the proceedings Newt had been willing to stop at game.

West opened the king of diamonds. Newt won in dummy and led a heart to his ace. West showed out and Ron saw problems. He could not afford to draw trumps because he would have no entry to dummy except the spades. He solved his problem by deciding that West's unusual no-trump with practically no high cards must have been based on at least 11 minor suit cards. Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of spades and led the jack. East played low but that did him no good. Newt discarded his eight of clubs. Then he played dummy's second diamond. Later he ruffed his last diamond with the queen of trumps and made the

All of which goes to show that these modern bids don't always work out so well. If West had not bid the unusual no-trump, South would not have known how to play the spades and might well have gone down.

SCHOOL BUSING COSTS While speaking over radio at the public meeting held by the Area School Board to resolve the bus situation, I made the point that the school board clearly stated the financial needs, but left the choice to the voters of (1) voting millage to finance the regular program, or (2) reject it and go on a curtailed program.

The issues confronting the school were made clear by the press and radio. Elimination of bus service was stated as one of the curtailed services, should the millage be rejected. During the past year we had five elections. The voters spoke: they issued a mandate to the board to curtail services.

I pointed out that even in the rural areas—the very areas where bus service is usedonly 36% of the vote favored raising the money to pay for these services.

At this point I was pushed aside from the microphone by a Mrs. Gerald Reed who called on me to substantiate this figure. When I said I did not have the figures with me, ner challenge was greeted with loud applause of approval.

I herewith substantiate my figures: The August 20th issue of the Escanaba Daily Press printed the election results. It specifically showed only 401 rural people (or 36% of the people voting) approved the millage necessary to provide these services. One man brought out that it costs the district about $100 a year more for a rural child who is bused than a city child who walks to school.

Having missed my point entirely, she called on me to produce the "city figures". In the city where there is no in-city busing, 45% or 1606 approved. While this is better than the areas that use the buses, it still does not represent a majority of voters. Until such time as we can get a majority of voters to support the millage the school board cannot provide the services. R. D. Haack problem, not my own - it's out their knowledge. Dad is other people's weight that bothers me. I am 5' 6" and tip the scales at 126 pounds. Please tell me what to do about the fat slobs who spot me on the bus and want to sit next to me because I look so thin. They figure that in addition to their half of the seat they can slop over onto my half because I don't need all of it.

I am sick of being squashed against the window by Big Berthas and Two-Ton Tommies. Any suggestions? And I hope you will take me seriously because the bruises are showing where my bikini leaves off. -FADING FAST

Dear Fading: Instead of grabbing a window seat when you board the bus, why don't you select an aisle seat - next to someone who is skinny?

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going with a young man who is very bright, graduated from college with honors, and makes a fine impression on people - until he gets into an argument. I admire his courage to speak out for the things he believes in, but somehow he always seems to end up in a vicious argument. Twice last week he got into a fist fight. My friend has lost two very good jobs this past year because of this problem. One of the men with whom he had a fight ended up with a broken jaw. I am concerned that he will have trouble all his life if he doesn't learn to control his temper. When he is between jobs I have loaned him money (which he has paid back) but I don't want to marry a man who is unable to stand on his own two feet. What can you suggest? BLUE BIRD Dear Bird: It's awfully hard for a person to stand on his own two feet when one foot is always in his mouth. Your friend may be brilliant, intellectually, but if he "expresses himself" by klopping people in the chops, his emotional development is equal to that of a child. This man needs some help and I hope he gets it.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are having a diffificult time financially. His par- dangering Indian cliff dwellents want nothing to do with ings in Arizona.

Vacation at a Spa

Dear Ann: I have a weight him because we married withdead and my mother can't give us any money because she works part time and is barely making it. I hope you will not think I am terrible when I ask you this question. I've heard relatives say my grandmother was buried in her diamond earrings and her diamond ring. Grandma was once a very wealthy woman and these diamonds must be worth a lot. They are not doing Grandma any good and we could use the money.

What would you think if we asked the clergyman for permission to dig her up? - IN

Dear In: You would need more than the clergyman's permission, Dearie. There are laws in regard to digging up people. The whole idea gives me the creeps. Forget it. * * *

Cocktail Party Raises Fund For State Democrats DETROIT (AP) - Michigan

Democrats staged a $50-a-couple cocktail party Thursday in Detroit, raising funds for legislative candidates in a bid to regain control of the State House of Representatives. More than 500 Democrats showed up at the shindig in the Hotel Pontchartrain. Party officials said they expected the event to yield $20,000 to the > party. About 90 per cent of the money is expected to go to Democratic candidates in 20 "swing" districts.

The 110-member House currently is controlled by Republicans who have a 56-54 major-

State Democratic Chairman Sander Levin said 1968 is the first year in his memory in which the party has drummed up campaign funds for Legislature candidates.

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, like a number of others, bought tickets but did not attend the party.

Millionaire To Wed 18 Year Old Student

HONOLULU (AP) - On Saturday Shirley Au, 18, will move from her parents' modest home to what millionaire Wendell Phillips, her 46-year-old fiance, calls "the most beautiful apartment in the world."

She and Phillips, an "old famfly friend" according to Miss Au, are to be wed. He lives on the slopes of Diamond Head, not far from the Au family's threebedroom frame house in Honolulu's Punchbowl area.

Phillips' apartment is furnished entirely in Arabian motif -the result perhaps of numerous gifts received from sultans, kings and other rulers during his archeological explorations.

There are Turkish tapestries, Egyptian camel saddles, mother-of-pearl inlaid tables from Lebanon and a 19th century harem screen. Irene Castadena, Phillips' personal secretary, describes it as "more in the line of a bachelor's quarters." Miss Au, the fourth of five children and daughter of a nuclear submarine repair supervisor at the Pearl Harbor naval shipyard, is a second-generation Hawaiian whose grandparents emigrated from China.

the plumbing in your house? If it's A-OK . . . perks along as it should, read no further. But if it balks occasionally, backs up at inopportune times, here are a few worth-noting

Give your drain a weekly treatment by pouring three tablespoons of washing soda down it. Then run good hot water until granules dissolve. This flushes the drain out without harming septic tank or corroding plumbing. It's a technique that's recommended by many plumbers, with some even leaving washing soda samples on house calls. This good will gesture admittedly cuts down considerably on the number of frantic SOS calls for plumbing aid.

You might go a step further in anticipation of the holidays ahead, for extra cooking leads to extra dishwashing and this puts a strain on your drain. Just adding a couple of tablespoons of washing soda to your dishwashing water helps keep plumbing up to par. It also softens the water, which lets you conserve on detergent, and cuts through grease so expertly that dishes, silver and glassware gleam.

SAULT STE. MARIE. Ont. (AP) - A 58 - foot Great Lakes sional hearing, some fine scenes vessel has left Sault Ste. Marie in the House of Representatives for a naval scrapyard in the lower St. Lawrence River.

The Edward Y. Townsend. owned by the Cambria Steamship Co. in the United States, after marine inspectors found the vessel unseaworthy.

The ship, built 62 years ago, was a sister ship to the Daniel J. Morrell, which sank in Lake Huron two years ago with the loss of 29 lives.

The Townsend was crossing the lake during the same storm. When she arrived at Sault Ste. Marie, inspectors boarded the vessel to check conditions. They found a two - foot crack in the deck as well as other damage.

The ship's certificate of seaworthiness was lifted and she was tied up at the Sault while officials decided her fate.

The Townsend is being towed by two large tugs - one from Montreal.

Maddox Will Not Run With Wallace

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia has said that he would not run with third party presidential candidate George Wallace if asked.

"I don't think I could add anything to the Wallace ticket," Maddox said. He said the former Alabama governor needed a running mate who has strength in the North.

Maddox said his own bid for the Democratic presidential nomination "to some degree was a success."

Electric Range Very Versatile

a spectacular electronic range reported to be the most versatile home cooking center ever

It is a handsome range with all the features of a top-ofthe line range. What's more, it features an electronic oven which adds the magic of fast, fast cooking. For example, a roled roast beef takes only 30 minutes to cook electronically, against 21/2 or more hours conventionally. The great advantage of this lower oven is that it cooks electronically, conventionally or both ways at once. The lower oven has the self-cleaning feature.

The eye-level upper oven with rotisserie cooks conventionally. Panels are removable and can be cleaned in the lower oven so that oven-cleaning drudgery is completely elimi-
